Caricatures Not in the Belle Museum.

The Museum of Revolutionary Relics exhibited at No. 56 Beacon street, is marked by the omission of a few which we cite below, viz:

Fragments of one of the snowballs thrown at General Gage's soldiers by Boston boys in 1775, on Boston Common. Contributed by J. Frost.

A piece of Continental blackstrap, preserved in spite of Mr. Swallow.

Brandy made from cherries on the tree cut down by George Washington. Contributed by Professor Liebig.

Portrait of a Boston gentleman who did not have an ancestor at Lexington, Concord or Bunker Hill—very rare.

Portraits of colored men who have been bled servants of General Washington, catalogued up to 1,081. (The Committee gives notice that if he had stopped at Captain Pelletier Hornblades, two miles from Boston.

Specimen of the "spirit of '76," in a bottle.—Boston Commercial Bulletin.

To BAKE FRESH FISH.—Prepare the fish by taking off the head, drawing the entrails, prepare the dressing as for cods, only use milk to moisten it with instead of water, if you have it; stuff it at the head, and tie a cloth over the neck. Use milk in then dripping pan, and bake often. Bake two or three hours. Another way:—Prepare the fish as for frying, taking out the back bone and scaling; butter a dripping pan, or tin plate, and lay the fish in with the open side up, and bake well until it is nicely brown. When done take it out and spread with butter, pour over some nice sweet cream; if you have not cream use more butter moistened with water. Let it stand a few minutes over a kettle of hot water.

RUSSIAN CREAM.—One quart of milk, three eggs, one cup of sugar, half package of gelatin, vanilla or lemon flavoring. Dissolve the gelatin in half pint of tepid water, bring it to warm temperature, but not scalding. Beat the yolks of the eggs and sugar together. Bring the milk to a boiling point, but no more as it is too stiff. Beat the whites and remove the mixture from the stove, and add the whites to it, also flavoring, and pour into molds. This requires to stand longer than wine jelly. If wanted for dinner make it the day before. Eat with cream if you like.

The Melbourne Argus tells the following rather good story: "A gentleman of the legal profession, at one of the great mixing centres having spent a giddy evening at a leading hotel, found the fresh air too much for him. Instead of reaching the bosom of his family, he gravitated to the lock up, with the much needed assistance of a servant of the Queen in full uniform. The lock-up keeper didn't know him, and consequently couldn't send for his friends to bail him out, as is frequently done by those tender-hearted officers of justice. So he was allowed to sleep until 7 in the morning, when he was aroused and asked his name, which he promptly said was 'Johnson.' He obtained soap, water, and a clothes-brush, and was refreshed by a cup of tea. He then proposed to the lock-up keeper that the officials should walk beside him to the Police Court. When the time came this was done, and by keeping the officer in earnest converse, it appeared as though the lawyer was engaged upon some business before the court, and when the name of Johnson was called, he calmly rose and said, 'I appear for the prisoner, your Worshipful.' 'What?' said the Police Magistrate, 'do you deny that he was drunk?' 'Oh, no,' he replied, 'he was very drunk, but is very sorry for it.' 'Five shillings, or six hours' imprisonment,' said the Police Magistrate. 'I will pay his fine myself,' said this ready-witted gentleman, who in this instance showed that the man who is his own lawyer hasn't always a fool for his client."

CONSCIENCE.—He that loses his conscience has nothing left worth keeping. Therefore, be sure you look at that. And in the next place look to your health; and if you have it, praise God, and value it next to a good conscience; for health is the second blessing that we mortals are capable of, a blessing that money cannot buy; therefore value it and be thankful for it.

Two years ago a Pennsylvania servant girl was sent to prison for stealing $200 from her employer. The money was found the other day where the man had hidden it, and now he offers the girl $8 as recompense, while she wants ten thousand.

The following is one of the stories of the late tornado in Illinois: The house was rolled over three times by the wind, knocked against a tree and torn to pieces, and the inmates were but slightly injured. The wife, who was somewhat deaf, never desired from her knitting all that time, and when the final crash came, she only looked up and said, "Come in, don't knock."

BLENKERHASSETT'S HOUSE-KEY.
Mr. Daniel Morgan White has presented to the State Library a door-key which he found in 1867 among the ruins of Blennerhassett's house, on Blennerhassett's Island, in the Ohio river, three miles below Parkersburg, West Virginia. The Blennerhassett house was burned about sixty years ago, and the key is marked with every evidence of having been subjected to intense heat. The Blennerhassett mansion was much like a feudal stronghold, and in its time was the wonder of the western country. It was here that the Blennerhassetts and Aaron Burr dwelt in almost princely magnificence, and indulged those dreams of empire in connection with Mexico that caused the arrest of both and the trial of Burr for treason.

CHICKEN CHEESE.—Did you, reader, ever eat it? We like it. Boil two chickens till tender; take out all the bones and chop the meat fine: season to taste with salt, pepper and butter; pour in enough liquor they are boiled in to make moist. Mold it in any shape you choose, and when cold, turn out and cut into slices. It is an excellent traveling lunch.

DISCOURAGED AT THE START.—As a stranger was yesterday knocking at the door of a house on Second street, a boy came around the corner and inquired: "Got anything to sell?" "Yes, I want to sell your mother a box of tooth paste," continued the boy, as a smile came out around his mouth; "she's got store teeth and she cleans 'em with a woolen rag!"

The Buffalo Express condemns the present fashion of women's dress as Black Crook on the streets.
